Hoffa Shies From Dispute Within Union

Teamster Payment Of His Legal Fees Slated for Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa has backed off from a crackling Teamsters Union row over whether the union should continue paying his legal fees, stirring speculation he is losing his iron grip on the Teamsters.

Hoffa, never known for ducking scraps but now beset by troubles with the law, yielded to a demand by one of his vice presidents that the union stop paying the bills until it can be determined whether or not it is in violation of federal law.

Edward Bennett Williams, the Teamsters general counsel who has defended Hoffa in some of his legal battles, is reported to have ruled that the union will be breaking the law if it pays the fees.

Hoffa, according to an aide, made his decision in Chicago where he is on trial on federal charges of misusing $20 million in union pension reserves.

"Mr. Hoffa wants to find out if such payments are legal," said Teamsters Vice President Harold J. Gibbons in St. Louis. "The decision will not be reversed until the legality is upheld by a nationally outstanding authority."

Gibbons, who resigned in December as Hoffa's executive assistant and closest aide, said, "Mr. Hoffa made the decision in view of a request by Teamsters Vice President John J. O'Rourke of New York."

Gibbons denied reports that the funds had been cut off by the union's secretary-treasurer.

"It was strictly Mr. Hoffa's decision, until the legal issues are settled," said Gibbons.

An attorney representing 12 members of Teamsters Local 107 in Philadelphia sent a letter which contended the union payment of Hoffa's legal fees is illegal, Gibbons explained, and copies went to all the union vice presidents.

"Teamsters vice presidents agreed Friday to hire an outstanding legal authority from outside the union to study the problem," he said. "Hoffa made his decision in a phone call to the vice presidents today."

Williams' opinion that it is illegal to use union funds to pay Hoffa's trial expenses had the potential of putting both the

3 Faiths Join in Vigil For Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — For nine days now — and no one knows for sure how much longer — theological students of the Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic faiths have been standing in a quiet vigil at the Lincoln Memorial.

They intend to stay, 24 hours a day, until the civil rights bill is passed by Congress.

It has been a chilly, wet and undramatic demonstration —three students on a shift grouped around a black-and-white sign across the circle from the long flights of steps leading to the statue of the Great Emancipator.

Monday night, however, a rival camp was set up barely 20 feet away.

George Lincoln Rockwell, head of the American Nazi party, led a half dozen of his followers in to distribute leaflets against the civil rights bill

Briefly the two sides mingled, exchanging their literature, before police shooed off the Nazis who lacked a permit.

To present a rival vigil the Rockwell group left behind one of their party—a stiffly erect 19-year-old in a tan storm-trooper cap decorated with a swastika.

"We'll be here as long as those people are," said Robert Lloyd of Arlington, Va., a follower of Rockwell.

It was a damp night and the students stood in the mud watching as buses unloaded hundreds of tourists at the monument.

Some of the tourists—most of whom were out-of-town high school students on the annual spring trip to the capital — stopped. A few took pictures with flash cameras. Some read the sign which says "Civil rights is basically a moral issue" and "We are brothers before God." Some asked questions.

A heavy - set boy spoke to Lloyd, then crossed the 20 feet to confront Joseph Brodie of New York Jewish Theological Seminary.

He asked Brodie how he would answer the Nazi's contention that Hitler had a million Jews killed because they were Communstis.

Patently Brodie explained that he didn't think the American Nazi party was objective and that the boy should check other sources.

Usually the students are relieved after a three-hour stint.

But there are so many Roman Catholic seminarians in the capital, said Jack Campbell of Boston, a student at St. Paul's College here, that "they are standing in line" to sign up and thus usually have only one-hour shifts.

An automobile shuttle service carries theological students to and from New York.

Gail Johnson, a pretty 24-year old from New York's Union Theological seminary put in two three-hour shifts Monday and was returning to school on the auto shuttle before midnight.

Rail Unions Cite Ohio Law

Minimum Safety Statute Recalled

CLEVELAND (AP)—An Ohio minimum safe crew statute will prevent carriers operating in this state from eliminating jobs of firemen and other crewmen when an arbitration award becomes effective May 7, rail union spokesmen here said today.

He estimated 300 jobs are involved in the award's initial procedure.

Ohio is one of 14 states which have laws regulating train crew size, and the state's original statute goes back more than a half century.

The law provides for five-man crews on passenger, freight and yard or switching trains With minor exceptions the statute calls for an engineer, conductor, fireman and two brakemen on all trains anl provides tines ranging from minimums of $25 and $100 for each offenses. There is also a prison sentence of up to 18 months provided for a supervisor ordering a violation of the crew - size law in switching operations.

The current issue of the Locomotive Engineer, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers publication, carries a story saying that the Ohio Public Utilities Commission has assurer the B "it will vigorously prosecute any carrier which tries to defy the state's minimum safe crew statute."

What course the railroads will pursue was not yet clear. A possibility mentiones is to have the law changed by the legislature. Another is to try to have it declared unconstitutional.

Jerrie Mock Would Like To Try Space

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Jerrie Mock, the Ohio housewife who made the first solo flight around the world, says she would like to be an astronaut.

But, she adds, "there are many, many qualified women who could do it."

The Columbus aviatrix, here Monday to visit the Bendix Radio Division, which made the seven-pound automatic direction finder that guided her in her flight, said she made the flight to prove several things.

"One was that light planes are safe," she said. "It's silly to think they aren't."

She said she also wanted the talents of women to be recognized, and "I also hope that this may make it easier for women to travel alone, without people wondering about motives.

Mrs. Mock flew her single-engine Cessna 22,858 miles in 29 days.

Athens County Probes Blast

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Police were questioning an unidentified man today, believed to have information concerning a dynamiting late Monday night at the strike bound Bridgwater Machine Co.

Dynamite was set off under the transformer that powers the plant. The side of the transformer was blown off and some 65 window panes were broken. There were no injuries. Police Chief J. B. Grogan estimated the damage at $2,000.

The United Auto Workers Local 324 has been on strike at Bridgwater, a division of the American Brake Shoe Co., for 17 days over economic issues including seniority rights.

French Navy Quits NATO

PARIS (AP) — France announced today she is withdrawing her officers from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization naval headquarters unit in a further step in President Charles de Gaulle's program to make his country independent of her allies.

The French announcement said proposals have been made for close liaison with the alliance's fleets.

De Gaulle already had withdrawn French ships earmarked for NATO duty in case of conflict. Today he wiped the navy slate clean by announcing with drawal of his officers.

The French president apparently does not care that the move isolates his nation from planning in NATO naval councils.

Hospital administrator Charles Marti said smokers bombarded department heads with requests for cigarettes.

U.S. Chamber's LBJ Reception Under Study

Address Draws Wide Applause From Businessmen

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—If his reception by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce is a reliable indicator, President Johnson has won the general approval of the nation's business community.

But many of those who applauded or laughed 60 times during his hour's rambling discourse before the group Monday obviously are going to take a hard look at Johnson's dealings with the big labor unions before they reach any final political judgments on him.

Johnson's reception by the chamber was an astonishing one. After his speech, one member of the overwhelmingly Republican audience observed: "Maybe not a soul here will vote for him. But he's sure done some damage to Republican campaign contributions."

Another commented: "This fellow is trying to get elected unanimously."

The chamber is historically a poor audience for Democrats. The late Paul Butler, when Democratic national chairman, was booed during one hot debate on government welfare spending.

There was booing again in 1961 when Sen. Joseph S. Clark D-Pa.; grew angry at the hostile recepton he received in a debate with a conservative economist at a U.S. Chamber convention. Clark advised the delegates to "grow up;" he got a storm of derisive jeers.

President John F. Kennedy, in his lone appearance at a chamber session, received little more than polite applause.

State Spends $4 Billion On Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger W. Tracy said today he had just completed a survey showing Ohio state government has spent more than $4 billion on education during the last 43 years.

He said actual expenditures for the period dating back to 1920 and extending through the 1963 fiscal year were $4,171,753,509—of which $2,943,388,033 went for financing the public schools, and $1,228,365,476 for operation of the six state-supported universities.

The figure covering the state funds for the public schools, he said, is confined to the distribution of state aid and is exclusive of revenues raised by local school levies.

Of the total $1,266,985,553 appropriations for the universities, one third, or $428,118,850 was appropriated by the legislature in the last five years. Actual expenditures of the six universities in the last five years, Tracy said, were $410,719,224 or $17,399,626 less than the legislative appropriations.

The auditor added that the biggest spender was Ohio State University their operations involved an expenditure of $782,736,071, of which $263,480,650 was spent in the last five years. Other university spending, in order, was by Ohio University, Miami Kent State, Bowling Green and Central State.

2 Copters Fall to Reds

DO XA, South Viet Nam (AP) —Communist guerrilla groundfire downed two U.S. helicopters and a South Vietnamese fighter plane today in a government assault on guerrilla mountain positions here. Two American airmen were wounded.

The biggest toll was among the Vietnamese troops riding in the helicopters to tiny landing zones near a Communist base. Eleven of them were killed by groundfire.

A total of 15 of nearly 40 Vietnamese and American helicopters were hit by ground fire as an operation was launched into the mountainous provinces of Quang Ngai and Kontum.

A Vietnamese fighter plane crashed near the command post after ground fire damaged the engine. The pilot was seriously injured.

Winds Rake Deep South

Plains States Get Thick Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sections of the Deep South were raked by small tornadoes and high winds Monday, injuring at least 10 persons. The Plains states were hit by thick snow and winds up to 81 miles an hour.

An overabundance of moisture combined with a high-level cold front to cause the unstable air over the Southeast.

Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida bore the brunt of Monday's storms, including heavy rains which dumped more water into the already swollen streams in the region At Appalachicola, Fla., 4.46 inches of rain fell in six hours.

Flash flooding was reported along tributaries of the Chattahoohee and Flint rivers as an estimated 4.5 inches of rain fell in parts of eastern Alabama and western Georgia in a 24-hour period.

Hailstones the size of golf balls fell on Atlantic Ocean beach communities near Jacksonville, Fla. The Weather Bureau said the hail measured up to one and one-half inches in diameter.

Five persons were injured at Moss Point, Miss., when high winds ripped carports from homes and uprooted large trees. A woman and two children were injured near Mobile, Ala., when a twister demolished a frame house.

A tornado that struck the northwestern Florida community of Little Whitewater resulted in injuries for two housewives. Other twisters did property damage at Pensacola and Quincy, Fla.; Hawkinsville and Unadilla, Ga.

The rainfall at Pensacola totaled 8.62 inches in less than 48 hours and brought on excessive flooding. An emergency power system had to be put in service at a hospital after normal power lines were knocked out by a flooded basement.

The snowstorm in the Plains states blanketed the town of Martin, S. D., with 6 to 8 inches The high winds were recorded in the central part of Nebraska.

Lodge Force Duels Barry For Delegates

BOSTON (AP) — The Lodge and Goldwater forces are battling it out today for delegates in the Massachusetts presidential primary.

Rival slates are on the Republican ballot for delegate-at-large and also in 10 of the 12 congressional districts.

Slates in two of the congressional districts are running as pledged to Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Arz. However, under Massachusetts law, pledges are not finally binding on delegates to the national political conventions.

Complete slates were filed by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R. Mass., and GOP National Committeeman Richard F. Treadway, both for delegate-at-large and in the 12 districts.

They are unpledged but Saltonstall has said they will favor Henry Cabot Lodge if he becomes a candidate for president. Lodge, a former U.S. senator and ambassador to the United Nations, now is ambassador to Viet Nam.

A slate of candidates for delegate-at-large was filed by Jack E. Molesworth, a member of the GOP State Committee and a Goldwater adherent.

LBJ Expands Poverty Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson decided today to add $10 million to his program for boosting the ailing economy of the Appalachian area, to take care of special problems of the coal mining industry.

Press secretary George Reedy said this will bring the total amount asked for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to $228 million instead of the $218 million in the original plan.

The total does not include an estimated $34 million to be available to the Appalachian area under the nationwide anti-poverty program.

Reedy said Johnson would send a message to Congress this afternoon formally asking approval for the Appalachian program.

The $10 million added today is in addition to $3 million in the original plan for research to find new markets for coal.

Gov. William G. Scranton of Pennsylvania called on Johnson late Monday to urge the additional $10 million for use in mining areas.

Earlier today, Johnson urged Democratic congressional leaders to try for quick action on the legislation.

A GOP substitute for the administration's antipoverty program was offered today by Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr. of New Jersey.

Frelinghuysen, ranking GOP member of the House Education and Labor Committee, said he has discussed his proposals with House Republican leaders. He indicated it will be offered when the poverty program reaches the House floor.

The bill bears little resemblance to the $962.5-million administration program, which encompasses a wide variety of antipoverty measures under an independent director.

Frelinghuysen would let the secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department distribute $500 million a year for three years to state agencies for use as the states decide. State plans could well parallel those being proposed by the administration, he said, but they would remain under state control.

Bloodmobile Visit Due Here Friday

T. D. Harman, Pickaway County Blood Program chairman, announced today that the American Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Circleville on Friday at the First EUB Service Center from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Those who donated at the visit on Mar. 5 will be acceptable as donors at this visit, since a period of eight weeks will have elapsed, Harman said.

It is increasingly important that the quota of 125 pints per visit be reached in order that the needs of county residents be met when emergencies arise, spokesmen pointed out.

Chapters which consistently fail to reach at least 75 per cent of quota will be asked to withdraw from the program until such time as they are able to improve recruitment methods and carry their share of the total responsibility. During the first quarter of 1964, Pickaway County reached 90.4 per cent of quota.

If participation in the center program should be withdrawn, due to inadequate collections, patients would not be charged for the blood used for them, but families and friends would be required to replace all blood used, pint for pint, Blood Program officials report.

* * *

THIS would place a much greater burden on doctors and the hospital in planning for the patient's needs.

Donors are urged to call GR 4-5736 for an appointment to donate blood on Friday.

Engle Withdraws From Senate Race

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Sen. Clair Engle's campaign managers today announced his withdrawal from the race for re-election.

Engle is in a Washington hospital recovering from a second brain operation performed last Friday.

When Engle announced after the first surgery last August that he would seek a second six-year term without providing Democratic party leaders details of his physical condition, it touched off a bitter row.

Engle's right side has been partially paralyzed and his speech severely handicapped but aides have denied repeatedly that he would drop from the race. Engle has maintained that he is physically capable of campaigning and serving if elected.

State Added To Appalachia

Rhodes Notifies Capital Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Appalachian region commission offical said today Ohio is eligible to receive proposed roads funds to help develop the Appalacnian region.

The official said the decision of Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio to have Ohio join formally the regional group puts the state in a position to participate in the proposed highway system.

President Johnson has indicated, the official said, that he will recommend additional money for highway work in Ohio.

Other funds proposed for various phases of development in the Appalachian region have not been itemized yet by states, the official said.

In the meanwhile, Sargent Shriver, director of President Johnson's antipoverty campaign, told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce today that the program is one of initiative, investment and growth.

"It's not a Robin Hood program, which takes from the rich and gives to the poor," Shriver said.

"The point of the program is to make the whole pie bigger, by encouraging millions of people now unemployed or on the dole to learn how to become useful and productive citizens."

Describing himself as a "recruiting Sargent," the Peace Corps director told the businessmen at their annual convention: "I want you to know that Uncle Sam needs you."

"This is a program that's open to businessmen, and it is based on sound business principles," Shriver said.

Less than $5,000 invested in a job corps trainee can raise his lifetme earnings by at least $60,000 and multiply his productive capacity, Shriver said.

Ohio made itself eligible when its formally applied for inclusion in the Appalachian Plan. Gov. James A. Rhodes formally notified U.S. Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges that Ohio would participate in the development of proverty designated areas.

Rhodes named Development Director George Wilson as the state representative on the Appalachian Regional Commission directing the program in West

12 Firms Are Indicted For Fixing Flour Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twelve flour milling firms were indicted today on charges of conspiring over the past six years to fix prices.

A federal grand jury in Buffalo, N.Y., handed down the indictment against the companies, which produce 65 per cent of the bakery flour sold east of the Rocky Mountains. The indictment also names as defendants six officers of the firms.

As a result of the alleged conspiracy, it is charged, commercial buyers of flour have been subjected to artifically high and non-competitive prices.

The indictment names these defendants:

General Mills Inc. and William A. Lohman Jr., vice president; the Pillsbury Co.; Archer-Daniels-Midland Co. and Lawrence J. Weidt, vice president; International Milling Company Inc.; the Peavey Co. and William R. Heegaard, vice president, all of Minneapolis;

Commission Acts On Permit Request

A resolution objecting to the request for issuance of a liquor permit to a Route 1 restaurant was adopted yesterday by the Board of County Commissioners.

The permit request has been submitted to the Ohio Board of Liquor Control by Thompson's Restaurant on Route 23 south of here. Commission members said they based their decision on two objection petitions filed with them by residents and a church in the general area.

The Commission's resolution, along with copies of the two protest petitions, will be forwarded to the Board of Liquor Control for consideration. A final decision on whether or not the permit is issued will be made by this state agency.

The restaurant is seeking a D-2 type permit. This calls for the sale of highpowered beer and wine for on the premises consumption and carry-out.

Truck, Contents Burn on Route 23

A truck and its contents burned on Route 23 south of Circleville last night, it was reported today by the State Highway Patrol.

The Kingston Volunteer Fire Department was called to douse the blaze. OSP officials estimated loss at $2,000. The truck is owned by Wendell Smith, Idaho, O.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats will outvote Republicans 737,235 to 661,677 in Ohio's primary election Tuesday, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicted today.

He estimated that 19,000 voters will skip partisan ballots and vote only on questions and issues in the election, running the total to 1,417,912.

The primary vote in the comparable presidential election year of 1960 was 1,396,891. The primary record was 1,532,-917 in 1952.

Voter registrations this year totaled 3,269,730 in the 47 counties requiring registration. That was 368,779 more than the pre-primary registration of 2,900,-951 in 1960.

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—John W. Rollins, 21, admitted Monday night he killed a Covington druggist during a robbery two months ago, police said.

Mrs. Adele Massman Carr, 64, was shot and beaten to death in her drug store late on Feb. 21. There had been no real clues in the case until last Thursday when her revolver was found on the roof of a Covington school

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Wiley Etheredge of Green Township, a Democratic candidate for state senator from Sumit County, was killed in a two-car collision Monday.

Her name will remain on the ballot for the May 5 primary election.

The coroner has not ruled in the case and is investigating the possibility that Mrs. Etheredge suffered a heart attack. Her car went out of control on a hill.

Mrs. Etheredge served as an Akron councilwoman from 1938-46.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Because state and local governments fail to pay voluntary hospitals for the care of the indigent, federal financing of medical care may become necessary, a hospital administator has warned.

"It is obvious that the problem of indigent care is not going to disappear," Stanley A. Ferguson, director of University Hospitals and president of the American Hospital Association, said Monday. "A solution to the problem of financing such care must be found."

Ferguson made the remarks in reporting an operating deficit at University Hospitals of $624,-000, the fourth in as many years. He attributed part of the loss to the "continued failure of Cuyahoga County to pay for indigent patients."

NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said today the organization is "very much against" President Johnson, or anybody, picking up dogs by the ears.

The President picked up his two beagle pups, Him and Her, by the ears on the White House lawn Monday. He said he did it "to make him bark."

"It's good for him," Johnson said, "and if you've ever followed dogs you like to hear them yelp."

The spokesman for the SPCA in New York said picking up dogs by the ears hurts them as much as it would hurt people to pick them up by the ear.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Manned Spacecraft Center officials, worried about astronauts getting flabby behind their desks, approved $15,000 final construction plans today for a gymnasium.

The building would cost $236,200, have 10,538 square feet including handball, squash and volley ball courts, exercise and weight rooms, trampolines, exercise boards, lockers, showers and dressing rooms.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Foreign diplomats will fly to the headquarters of the pro Communist Pathet Lao Wednesday to discuss the situation resulting from the right-wing coup in Vientiane.

PARIS (AP) — Speculation arose today that France may be preparing to make some financial adjustment with the United Nations, following her long refusal to pay her share of U.N. expenses in the Congo.

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The missing head of one of two decapitated statues in Denmark has been recovered, but it was not the Little Mermaid's.

Police at Odense, Hans Christian Andersen's birthplace 85 miles southwest of Copenhagen, said they recovered the head of a statue called "The Boxer" from the bottom of a river that runs by a house where Andersen wrote many of his fairy tales.

The monument had been put in place Friday night. Its head was wrenched off early Saturday.

Copenhagen's Little Mermaid, representing the heroine of another Andersen story, was beheaded about the same time.

CAMP ZAMA, Japan (AP) — A general court - martial sentenced U.S. Army Spec. 5 Richard M. Strong today to three years at hard labor for strangling his wife in an argument over her dancing with Negroes at a New Year's Eve party.

The court also ordered the 25-year-old soldier from Idaho Falls, Idaho, to pay a fine of $100 a month for three years and reduced his rank to private E-1, which carries a base pay of $110 a month.

Jury Hands Down Ruling

A jury verdict of easement in property appropriated for highway purposes was returned yesterday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court in about 2½ hours after the hearing got underway.

The case involved Gladys T. Cummins and others vs. the Director of Highways, State of Ohio, and funds appropriated for a small portion of land in Harrison Twp.

Jurors appropriated $120 for the land and $155 in damages as a result of the brief court session. Plaintiffs in the action were not present for the hearing and were not represented by legal counsel.

Jurors were Carl B. Gearhart, Jean M. Snyder, C. E. Davis, Virgil Stonerock, William Bitzer, Charles E. Jones, Rosemary Mader, Beverly Williams, Grace Ferrell, Alice J. Cook and Judith Stout.

CB Operators Are Not 'Hams'

Amateur radio operators fall into two distinct groups, according to Dick Rader, S. Court St.

One such group which organized here recently was referred to as "ham" operators. Rader pointed out today that they were not "ham" operators but citizen band operators.

Speaking for the group, Rader said the newly organized unit, consisting of about 30 members, would be entirely separate from local "ham" operators as specified in their licensing from the Federal Communications Commission.

Jets To Probe Tornado Clouds

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Jet planes that soon will ride herd on Oklahoma tornado clouds also will make an additional study of electrical discharges that have been plaguing commerical airliners lately.

Neal Ward, research meteorologist with the National Severe Storms Laboratory here, said Monday planes that will observe and, in some instances, penetrate storm clouds include a Navy F11, and an Air Force F100 and B17. A U2 craft based at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., will fly over the turbulent weather.

"The planes will be prepared for lightning strikes to determine what part of the cloud and what stage of the storm is more likely to produce the flashing discharge," Ward said.

Adult Handed Jail Sentence

Pickaway County Juvenile Judge Guy Cline yesterday sentenced a local adult to six months in the county jail on charges involving the morals of a juvenile.

Charles Daniel Haines, 21, Route 2, (also known as Danny Rutter), was handed the six-month sentence, with four months suspended. The hearing conducted in the juvenile court chambers lasted most of the morning.

Indications are that Rutter, after he is released from jail, will face charges of violating terms of probation previously handed down in Common Pleas Court.

Rutter's arrest came as the result of a lengthy investigation by city police concerning promiscuous activities at a N. Court St. apartment.

* * *

SEVERAL juveniles who appeared before the court recently were handed probationary sentences for being involved in the incidents.

Another adult, John Payne, is serving a six-month jail sentence for a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Payne was also arrested as the result of the apartment investigation.

Kiwanis Hears Facts on Fair

Approximately 60 members of Circleville Kiwanis Club and their wives attended a dinner yesterday evening at the First EUB Church.

Guest speaker for the dinner meeting was Ann Drumel, representing the Columbia Gas Co. public relations department. Subject of her talk was the New York World's Fair.

A special highlight of the program was the showing of a 30-minute film on the World's Fair.

Miss Drumel, a graduate of Denison University and Bowling Green State University, was an instructor in speech at BGU prior to joining the gas company's public relations department.

Cigarette Ad Policy Is Set

Claims Slated To Be Modified

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's cigarette manufacturers are putting their $250 - million annual advertising program into the hands of an administrator to enforce a new code banning appeals aimed at teenagers.

The administrator, to be named shortly, will be empowered to fine a code violator up to $100,000. He will be given "complete and final authority" on all cigarette advertising, the nine companies which account for more than 99 per cent of the cigarettes made in the United States announced Monday.

Among advertising appeals banned by the companies' new code are:

—Testimonials by athletic herocs, famous entertainers, or other persons who would have a special attraction to those under 21 years of age.

—Suggestions that cigarette smoking is essential to social prominence, distinction, success or sexual attraction.

—Claims with respect to health because of the presence of a filter, unless the claim is determined by the administrator.

All cigarette advertising must be cleared by the administrator, whose office shall be in New York.

The code bars ads aimed directly at persons under 21, and forbids distribution of free sample cigarettes and promotion of cigarette smoking on college campuses.

Advertising models must be at least 25 years old and look that age. There is a ban on persons "smoking in an exaggerated manner."

The industry acted 3½ months after the report by the U.S. surgeon general which linked cigarette smoking with cancer.

The code needs approval by the Justice Department to comply with antitrust laws, the announcement said.

Methodists Urged To End Segregation

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Methodist Church is under appeal from a Philadelphia minister and a lay leader to eliminate racial segregation.

The two speakers asked Monday that the 900 delegates at the 1964 General Conference rid the church of the Central Jurisdiction.

The conference, which convenes every four years to set policy for the 12-million member church, opened Sunday in Pittsburgh's modernistic Civic Arena for a two-week session.

The Rev. Robert A. Raines, pastor of the integrated First Methodist church of Germantown, said in a sermon that "God clearly is calling Methodists in 1964 to eliminate the racial cancer of the Central Jurisdiction from its body."

The Central Jurisdiction is a separate division of the Methodist Church which is composed of 375,000 Negroes.

Abolishment of the jurisdiction and the merging of its conferences with white conferences is one of the top issues to be considered during the meeting.

Dr. W. Astor Kir, a Negro and a layman serving on the General Board of Christian Social Concerns in Washington, told newsmen that the church should not stop with eradication of the Central Jurisdiction.

The church should "abolish all other forms of segregation all the way down to the local church level," he said.

Escape Chance Seen for Ruby

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby may escape the electric chair if his counsel can convince the jury in a sanity trial that the balding convicted slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald is insane.

Judge Joe B. Brown said Monday he will empanel a jury at the first suitable date, in response to a sanity trial request filed by Ruby's sister, Eva Grant.

Texas law requires a judge to hold such a trial if the defense asks for it. Judge Brown presided over the first month-long trial, in which a jury rejected a defense plea that Ruby was insane Nov. 24 when he shot Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Ruby's lawyers said Monday that their client's condition has worsened since his conviction March 14, that his "mind is falling apart" and he has delusions that his crime has brought about a slaughter that will bring death to 25 million American Jews.

If a jury finds Ruby insane, he will be committed to a state institution.

Dr. Louis Jolyon West, psychiatry professor at the University of Oklahoma, testified that Ruby's hallucinations triggered his apparent suicide attempt Sunday. Ruby banged his head against a cell wall, raising a sizable knot.

Judge Brown rejected a defense motion that Ruby be hospitalized for mental treatment. Joe Tonahill, a defense lawyer, said he had to call Ruby's rabbi to calm him after he tried to fight the lawyer earlier Monday.

Dr. West said Ruby "is completely preoccupied with delusions of the persecution of Jews. He feels hopeless, worthless and guilty because he thinks he is to blame for the mass murder of his own people."

It will be up to the defense to prove Ruby's insanity. If they succeed and Ruby is sent to an institution, state doctors could later decide Ruby has regained his sanity but another sanity trial would be required to legally confirm it, according to Asst. Dist. Atty. Bill Alexander.

State Added

Virginia and portions of eight other states.

The governor acted after some 400 representatives of 18 southeastern Ohio counties meeting in Athens Monday asked to participate in the federal plan in the expectation of receiving massive aid for new highways and other development activities.

Rhodes had urged rejection of the federal plan in favor of a state development program to avoid a poverty tag that he asserted might keep industry and tourists out of the Ohio Valley Region.

But he said after the Appalachia decision that the Ohio plan, already set up, would supplement federal operations.

The decision to seek federal help, made by the newly named Ohio Valley Research and Development Council, followed statements by Congressman Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, that highway funds would be available only to those in the Appalachia plan.

But Ohio officials expressed concern here because they said a report to President Johnson by the Appalachian Commission made no mention of funds for Ohio highways.

Maps of Appalachian roads stop at the Ohio border, they added.

Backbone of the Ohio plan is a super-highway between Cincinnati and Bridgeport, Belmont County, to open the southeastern counties for general development.

Ohio already has asked the Area Redevelopment Authority (ARA) for a grant to make a study of the proposed southeastern road to be called the Appalachian Way, Wilson said.

Black Mart In Viet Nam Is Studied

NEW YORK (AP)—The Catholic Relief Service says here that no food that it ever delivered to South Viet Nam was deliberately put on the black market.

But, a spokesman said, "It's almost impossible to control 100 per cent the end result" of the massive worldwide food programs that Catholic Relief runs.

The spokesman, Father Fabian Flynn, issued the statement in response to a Los Angeles Times story out of Saigon. The story Sunday said a U.S. government report detailing corruption and incompetence in distribution of surplus U.S. food by Catholic Relief in South Viet Nam has been suppressed.

The report, the story said, told of the surplus food winding up in the black market, being left to rot in warehouses, fed to pigs, given to Vietnamese officials for their own use, and sold by parish priests to non-Catholics while given free to Catholics.

The Saigon dispatch said the report was prepared by the public safety division of the U.S. operations mission there. The dispatch said the report was out less than a week after its March 26 distribution to U.S. officials there and in Washington before it was called back and "locked up."

Castro Eases His Ban on U.S. Jazz

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government has eased its ban on American jazz, movies and plays—and the Cubans are going wild about them.

The other night, 4,000 university students yelled, whistled and clapped in a public square while the "Free Jazz Group" played such oldies as "Caravan" and "Something Easy."

It was the first time since the end of 1961 that such a thing has been permitted in this Communist country where just humming and American tune was once considered antirevolutionary.

You can even buy American books now, but people are afraid it won't last.

"I bought every book I could," said one young man coming out of a book store. "This may be my last chance."

There seem to be two main reasons for the liberalization:

—People were openly grumbling about the drab lives they were leading and the lack of good entertainment. Even the controlled press complained.

—Cuba now has more dollars to spend because the world price of sugar has risen and Cuba is getting money from such countries as Japan and Spain.

The government is giving private showings of new American films for people who can pass a strict screening. Viewers have to get permission from just about everyone including the trade union to which they belong.

Viet Nam Aid Tops $3 Billion

Program Differs From Other Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cumulative U.S. aid to South Viet Nam has topped $3 billion in a program now markedly different from any other U.S. aid effort around the world.

The difference stems from its close link with the campaign to stamp out Communist guerrillas. It shows up in ways such as:

1. Top priority on material improvements that will start benefiting South Vietnamese villages this year—not next year or the year after. This contrasts with other programs like the Alliance for Progress for Latin America where economic plans are supposed to be developed carefully with an eye to long range gains.

2. U.S. willingness to prop up the Vietnamese economy in a general way, not confining aid to selected projects.

3. Use of economic aid funds for antiguerrilla and propaganda support operations, such as providing thousands of special radios and drafting surrender appeals.

4. Scattering U.S. aid personnel through the countryside to spread American assistance at the grass roots. More than 200 are now in the provinces, many of them picked more for their ability to work with natives than for any special technical skill.

The massive U.S. economic and arms assistance program, which got going after the Indochinese states became independent in 1954, totaled $2.9 billion by the end of fiscal year 1963. It amounts to about $400 million a year now, around half economic and half military, not counting the expenses of some 15,000 U.S. servicemen there.

Nationwide May Buy San Francisco Firm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Nationwide Corp. of Columbus says it is offering to buy all the outstanding common shares of West Coast Life Insurance Co. of San Francisco for $50 a share.

Nationwide said Monday night that owners of more than 500,000 shares have already agreed to accept the offer. The Columbus insurance firm said that so far it has been negotiating with just the principal stockholders of West Coast Life but that soon the $50 per share offer will be extended to all shareholders of the San Francisco firm.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, sailing high with increasing confidence in himself and his campaign to be all things to all people, has just given a masterful performance and a great insight into how he is going about it.

In his speech to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce Monday he pulled out all the stops, touching each listener, and each reader later, with appeals to the various motivations of a man in the American society today.

There was something in it for the rich, the poor, for conservatives, for liberals, for the sick, the old, the untrained, and the young ambitious.

What he said Monday and how he said it—since he is going to run for election in November—can be taken as the key to the directions his political campaign will take, and how he'll handle it.

While this was a speech to businessmen it was also a tremendous political speech.

He appealed to his listeners' desire for frugality in government and their own desire to make money; to their desire for peace and at the same time for military security; to their humanity, their compassion, and ther patriotism.

It was all there but he was careful, although you might not notice the various transitions, to humanize himself in the process by shiftng from soaring sentences to homey phrases and homely images, like the old house where he was born. He says he keeps a picture of it in his bedroom.

The implication he got across was that what he could do any American could do in his rise from humble beginnings to the White House — if he had the chance. And he was asking everyone to pitch in to help everyone get the chance.

Thus the picture of Lyndon Johnson which emerged from all he said—modestly, as if in passing, but certainly intentionally—was that of an American epic which didn't have to be unique.

In short, he made the widest kind of appeal to the greatest number of people for he knew far more people would be reading later what he said than could be jammed together to hear him Monday.

He started out with a fairly short, prepared speech which might have taken 15 minutes to deliver. By the time he got through adding to it, sometimes in a rambling but humorous way. he had talked an hour.

The chamber members and their wives at the end gave him such a prolonged, standing ovation that he had to take what amounted to two curtain calls. Twice he had to return to wave thanks.

Some of the techniques—

The homely phrase: "You can go home and tell your friends that you have an independent, taxpayin', light-bill-savin' President in the White House."

Patriotism: "I believe this strong and this rich and this successful nation can bring peace to the world and I believe it so strongly I am going to work for it and fight for it and I hope I get it."

The homely image: "I have a little house where I was born, the son of a tenant farmer, a picture of which is hanging up in my bedroom (in the White House), because every night when I go to bed and every morning when I wake up, I call it the 'opportunity house.'"

His appeals—

To frugality and the desire to make money: he promised less government spending, pointing out he reduced the budget, less government jobs, and predicted 1964 would bring industry $30 billion in profits.

To humanity and self-interest: in soliciting help for his fight on poverty, unemployment medical care for the aged, job training, he said, "Unless you attack the causes of proverty itself, you are going to be shoveling it out to the tax-eaters instead of producing and training tax-payers.

As indications of his efforts and good times ahead he pointed to the rail dispute he helped settle; the tax cut he got through Congress; figures on a rising economy; military strength; shutdown of needless military installations.

He didn't quite follow the advice he quoted from George Washington: "Let your discourse with men of business be short and comprehensive." Johnson's speech wasn't short but it was comprehensive.

Agriculture Topic On Rotary Agenda

Another look at agriculture will be a part of the program when the Circleville Rotary Club meets for a regular noon session Thursday at the St. Philip's Church Parish House. A similar program was conducted last week.

The speaker will be Chester H. Hutchison, assistant dean of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture. His topic will be "Ohio's Position in Today's Agriculture."

Last week's scheduled speaker was Earl McMunn, editor of the Ohio Farmer magazine.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here is the official U. S. Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

After many days of weary eastward movement across the central part of the country, a cold front finally inched its way over Ohio this morning.

Frontal passage was hardly noticable, evidenced only by a few showers and minor temperature and pressure variations. Lows during the morning remained on the mild side with Cincinnati reporting 51, Akron 53, Columbus 55, and Zanesville 59.

A potent low pressure area has remained behind the cold front and was centered over Iowa this morning. This system will move slowly northeastward the next 48 hours and, therefore, skies will be partly cloudy over Ohio today through Wednesday, with a few showers likely throughout the period.

Seas Inching Higher

As if to remind the populace of the old adage about water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink, the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey has announced that the oceans are still closing in on most land masses.

Since 1940, the waters surrounding much of the United States have risen as much as nine inches. This may not sound great in terms of a perpendicular rise, but horizontally it means that a large parcel of land which once was inhabitable is now under water.

Thousands of acres of flat coastal land in the Gulf of Mexico have been swallowed by the rising tide in the last quarter century.

Along the Atlantic coast, the ocean has risen as much as five and one-half inches off New Jersey, while the Pacific's greatest rise was two inches at San Diego and Seattle. A nine-inch rise was recorded in the Gulf of Mexico off the Louisiana coast.

Earthquakes, floods and tornadoes are not nature's only means of changing the world, although they are the most sudden and dramatic ones. Constant movements of the earth, unmeasurable by the human eye, produce the same effects over a period of time.

Some land masses have a tendency to grow over the years. The ocean at Juneau, Alaska, has shown an apparent drop of 14 inches since 1940, although the ocean itself is deeper. The explanation lies in movements which have brought the earth out of the ocean.

Melting glaciers in the Arctic region are responsible for the increasing oceans. Climatic changes which have brought unusually warm temperatures to the North Pole and record low readings in traditionally tepid parts of the hemisphere are largely responsible for the rise in ocean waters.

Someday the oceans will be among man's greatest material assets. At present they are little more than a means to an end, and frequently a destructive force to harass and annoy. But the day may not be far off when man's attention will turn to the substance which covers more than two-thirds of the earth's surface as a matter of survival.

The Business World

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Qualified Negro college graduates are being sought by industry this year as never before.

A survey indicates that unprecedented numbers of industrial recruiters have swarmed over campuses to hunt out, talk to and in many cases hire Negro graduates at top starting salaries.

The search for outstanding Negroes is a part of an all-out hunt for able June graduates, but many companies are showing an especial interest in the graduating Negro.

And, says Business Week magazine, which conducted the survey, there is a general feeling that industry really wants the Negro, that the recruiting rush isn't merely a desire to provide "window dressing."

One student was quoted as saying:

"We believe the new jobs are for real, that this is not a fad. There is some uncertainty about the future, but the general belief is that more jobs are opening up."

Fisk University in Nashville has had to extend its normal recruiting sessions for at least another month. Howard University in Washington, D.C., turned away more recruiters this year than visited the college five years ago, and has logged 50 per cent more interviews than last year. In Texas, Prairie View College and Texas Southern University report a tenfold increase in visiting industrial recruiters over the past few years.

The main targets of the recruiters are top Negro graduates majoring in science, biology, physics, mathematics, chemistry and engineering.

Starting salaries in these fields run up to $670 a month with an average just under $600. These compare favorably with starting salaries for all graduates.

Placements directors say they could place many more science and engineering graduates than they have available.

Business administration, especially accounting, is proving to be a good field for Negroes. The placement director at Fisk said he was "amazed at the tremendous thrust for students majoring in business administration."

A problem is that the supply of qualified Negroes in business fields, as in engineering and science, fails to meet industry's demand.

Jumping to Some Conclusions

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions:

Dandelions, now gleaming like gold coins on millions of American lawns, are among the loveliest plants known to man. Anybody who uproots them before they are through blooming is a snob and a horticultural social climber—and may his green thumb turn blue!

Flying from Chicago to New York last week I heard a fellow passenger complain. "The trouble with this flight is you get there before you can finish your second martini."

It is said that one of the things Gen. Charles de Gaulle detests most is talking over the telephone. Any man who holds this view can't be altogether bad.

During the 400th anniversary of William Shakespeare's natal year, he is being widely praised as the greatest writer in the English language. If we all weren't so terribly busy, it would be nice to pick up one of his plays and see what the man had to say.

No matter how many people in an office use a pencil sharpener, there usually is only one who will uncomplainingly take the trouble to clean it when it gets full of shavings.

There are only two types of middle-aged people—those who who are grateful for bifocal glasses, and those who'd rather bump their heads against a brick wall.

Even if we didn't have television, we'd probably find something else to bore us. Most of mankind's progress has come from a desire to avoid either work or ennui.

One of the loneliest feelings in the world is to go to a circus by yourself after 40.

No matter how agnostic a man may be, he still likes the sound of church bells.

The thing a fat man wonders most about a thin man is how he manages to keep his shirtfront in. The ordinary fat man gets most of his exercise fighting his shirtfront back into place.

Baseball was the national sport when it was a game played by nine men who went the whole nine innings. With the arrival of the platoon system, it became just a form of outdoor automation, more enjoyable to computers than fans.

One of our biggest objections to the higher culture is that no one yet has had the common sense to suggest selling hot dogs at the average symphony concert.

If you haven't had a headache lately, think it over. Maybe you are shirking doing your fair share of the national worrying.

You're Telling Me!

A member of the British Parliament has just opened a language school, one of its purported objects being to teach Americans to speak English. The very idea! — or, should we have said "eye-dee-ah!"?

On reading about that school, our old pal F.E.F. comments: "So that's what's behind the Beatles! Yeah! Yeah! Yeah!"

A deer's antlers often outweigh its skeleton —nature item. Now, that's what we call a heavy overhead.

On being admitted recently to the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe declared that all he did to earn the honor was "attend meetings and drink tea.' Thats certainly combining humility with nobility.

Stop griping! April's aggravating rainstorms mean but one thing—you're paying slightly in advance for great expanses of green grass and the fragrance of lovely blooms, soon to be enjoyed.

On the theory that contented hogs grow fatter faster, a Pimperne, England, farmer has created a centrally - heated pig sty. Maybe this means soon we'll have pre-roasted pork chops and hams on the hoof.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HARPO MARX tells of a gambler in the wide-open Capone era in Chicago who ran a slightly crooked roulette wheel. In fact, the house couldn't lose even if the players had every number covered. "If that happened," explains Harpo, "the pill would jump off the wheel, hop out the door, and roll down Michigan Avenue."

One time the gambler was warned that the heat was on, and urged to take it on the lam. "I'll go on a huntin' trip," said the gambler. "Good idea," approved his mouthpiece. "Where'll you go?" "Milwaukee," said the gambler. "Milwaukee?" echoed the mouthpiece. "What the heck you gonna hunt in Milwaukee?" "Oh," said the gambler, "cats, dogs—whatever they got there!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Recently a 58-year-old man happily left a hospital in New York City after having recovered from a serious abdominal operation. The doctors, nurses and personnel delightedly bade him farewell because his departure represented a triumph over disease.

Within 20 minutes after he left, this patient was returned to the same hospital, to the same solicitous care of those who had just contributed to his cure. In this short interval, his nose and jaw had been fractured in an automobile accident.

He was a victim of a game one might call "automobile tennis."

This hazardous game is played by irresponsible drivers who use automobiles as the tennis racket and pedestrians as the tennis ball. The city streets are the tennis court and intersections, the tennis net.

On city streets where there are progressive, synchronized lights, the trick is to keep going for endless blocks without "getting caught" by a red light and having to stop.

The first rule of the game is to speed in order to catch the green light at every corner. The second rule is time the rate of speed so as to be at the intersection just as the light changes from red to green, and thus proceed without pausing. The third rule is to see how close the "progressive" motorist can come to hitting a crossing pedestrian or cutting off another car without drawing blood or scratching a fender.

Such immature driving patterns of the reckless and irresponsible cause injury and even death. The endless efforts of scientists and physicians to safeguard lives and health do not deserve this careless disrepect for safety.

Playing with lights saves no time. It might even end it.

Cirrhosis of the liver is often mistakenly identified as the exclusive disease of the alcoholic.

Certain types of cirrhosis unquestionably are most prevalent among alcoholics. However, it is thought that malnutrition makes the alcoholic, and frequently the non-alcoholic, susceptible to this condition.

Essentially, cirrhosis of the liver is a chronic disease that changes the architecture of the liver and interferes with its proper function.

The symptoms are so varied and often so similar to other liver and gall bladder conditions that self-diagnosis of "cirrhosis" usually proves to be unfounded. Clinical examination by a physician, substantiated by special liver function tests and blood studies, is necessary for an accurate diagnosis.

The progression of this condition can often be stopped and kept under control when the diagnosis is made early by the physician.

Drugs and special diet, with abstinence from alcohol, have produced gratifiyng results in the treatment of cirrhosis.

'Myths' and Cuba

By John Chamberlain

The Cold War with Soviet Russia may be softening for the moment, but in refusing to be budged on reconnaissance flights over Cuba the Johnson Administration still resists galloping Fulbrightism in its dealings with Fidel Castro. However, the propaganda squeeze is on to rehabilitate Castro in the minds of U. S. citizens.

Have you noticed the recent TV publicity that stresses visits to Castroite agricultural experiment stations and speaks about interviews with young Cuban students? Nothing wrong about this sort of thing, of course, if it weren't for the omissions. The fact, as was thoroughly established by Latin American expert Daniel James a long time ago when he was working for the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, is that Castro can experiment with prize cattle until the cows come home without being able to undo the damage which his revolution has done to a once thriving Cuban meat economy. Moreover, all educational news from Cuba is deceptive: you don't get to go to college in Cuba these days unless you are a Castroite. Cuban college students begin by being brainwashed.

Castro may profess a wish for "peace and understanding with all countries," but Venezuela knows better. So do the better informed people in Washington, D. C. The fact is that the Russians, who may be pulling some of their operatives out of Cuba, are busy training Cubans to operate missile bases which have been built with Soviet materials and Soviet technology. The Soviet expert, Nicolai Erpilov, has set up a missile tracking station in Cuba. This is indicated by a monitored report of what was said over Radio Progress in Havana on April 6. "Cuban students," so Radio Progreso said, "assisted by technicians from the Soviet Union, will commence their work by observing the next satellite launched by the United States." In other words, the Russians have fixed it so that Castro can keep a close-up tracking watch on anything that happens at Cape Kennedy.

If Fidel Castro is a man of peace, why doesn't he remove Major Ernesto Guevara from his job as head of the Red Cuban subversive bureau? Major Guevara, in an interview published in "Ultima Hora" of Lima, Peru, said not so long ago: "My advice to Venezuelans is this: Arm yourselves and shoot through the head every imperialist you can find who is fifteen years of age or older. For the people of Panama I have this advice. Don't use boys, but put your sharp-shooters in ambush." Violence, so Major Guevara insisted, is "the only means by which political will can be imposed."

Castro has claimed recently that his agricultural shortcomings are due to "inexperienced young administrators." The fact is that the Cuban peasants won't work for the government. Castro's economic czar, "Che" Guevara, said on April 20 of this year: "We must look carefully to find where the cane cutters have gone to." Military conscription in Cuba is designed to fill the gap created by the vanishing peasant. Said Arnaldo Milian, Secretary General of the Cuban Communist Party (PURS), on Arpil 11: "The young men who enter into compulsory military service will, all of them, work in the sugar harvest. They will go to the cane fields to provide an example to demonstrate that they are patriots, all right, but patriots who cut sugar cane." To which Raul Castro, Fidel's younger brother who is Minister for the Armed Froces, added; "Conscription will rid society of the evils of the past; and will also attempt to rehabilitate these men." The phrase "these men," as applied to conscripts, was further defined by Raul Castro as meaning most everbody who had to be drafted. Raul also called the draftees "principally loafers and bums."

The idea, stressed in recent Castroite publicity, that Cuban students have a better access to education under Fidel is disputed by the fact that five out of eight Cuban universities have disappeared since 1959. To get into one of the three remaining universities you have to be a member of the Communist Party, or an enrolled Young Communist, or a certified "integrated" student (meaning that you are pro-Castro). Says Fidel's Minister of Education Armando Hart: "The courses are first, second, and third, intended to impress on the student an understanding of Marxism-Leninism."

Senator Fulbright has warned us to beware of "myths." But let us be sure just what is mythological before we take his advice as applied to Cuba.

Daylight Time Mixup in U.S. Is Deplored

WASHINGTON (AP)—A plea that Congress end the semi-annual time scramble confusion has been made by Rep. Richard Fulton, D-Tenn.

He referred to the fact that some states converted to daylight time over the weekend, others didn't.

Fulton asked enactment of his bill which would put the entire nation on the same daylight time basis by requiring that all clocks be advanced one hour the last Sunday of April each year and set back an hour the last Sunday in October.

The United States, he said, has won "the dubious honor of being the world's worst timekeeper" because some areas have daylight savings time, others do not.

Fulton pointed out that 24 states, in total or in part, advanced their clocks by an hour Sunday morning, five other states will do so later and 21 states won't observe daylight savings time at all.

Of the 29 states which have advanced or will advance their clocks, he said, 13 have local option on the question and thus many areas in those states stay on standard time, and, he said, all 29 do not end daylight time on the same date.

"The extremes to which non-uniform clock tinkering can be carried are ludicrous," Fulton said. "We are all, no doubt, familiar with that 35 - mile stretch of highway between Steubenville, Ohio, and Moundsville, W. Va., which caricatures this situation.

"Until 1963 when West Virginia made daylight savings time mandatory on a statewide basis, one could travel this 35 miles and actually change his clock seven times to conform to local time observance custom."

Harlem Tutor To Be Guest Of Lady Bird

WASHINGTON (AP)—A public school principal from New York's Harlem district will be the guest today of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson at the fourth of the First Lady's series of "women-doers" luncheons.

Kate Tuchman of Public School 184 will be among 14 guests at the White House. She will tell of her experiences and the challenges of teaching in an overcrowded city school district.

Mrs. Tuchman, a native New Yorker who received her degrees in education at Brooklyn and Hunter colleges, has been assigned as principal the past four years.

Mrs. Johnson started a series of luncheons last January to talk informally with professional women in various fields. The luncheons are held in the second-floor family dining room at the White House.

Actor's Patient Wait Brings Him Leading Roles

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Fifteen years ago, Fox studios let Richard Crenna's option lapse because he "wasn't leading man material."

Did the young actor fret over it at all? Not for a minute.

"They were absolutely right," he now reasons. "I had a hunch nothing would happen to me in movies until I was 35. I photographed too young, and there aren't many good parts for young men. Anyway, female stars don't like to play opposite someone who looks like a kid."

The kicker to the story is that Dick Crenna is now back at Fox playing the title role in "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home!" opposite Shirley MacLaine. Crenna is now 37, which makes him two years late on his prediction. He might have made it sooner, but he's been busy.

Matter of fact, he's been busy since age 11. That's when he started as a radio actor, and one of the series he performed on was "Our Miss Brooks.' When the show converted to televsion, Dick had just been dropped by Fox and he signed on.

He played the daffy high school student for four profitable years, finally graduating at age 27.

Were the studios ready for him then? Obviously not. So he signed for six years as Luke in "The Real McCoys." He emerged a rich, unhurried man.

"I did some directing on 'McCoys'; otherwise I don't think I could have lasted," he said. "When the show was over, I didn't even want to do guest shots, although I finally did one. I started directing some Andy Griffith shows, which I found very gratifying. And I just waited."

Dick turned down 25 or 30 proposals for comedy series before committing himself to an hour drama out of the Bing Crosby stable, "Slattery's People." He plays the minority leader in a legislature, representing an unstated party in an unspecified state. CBS snapped it up.

Then Fox started romancing.

"You know those things happen," Dick said realistically. "A studio starts out casting by asking Jack Lemmon, Rock Hudson and 10 other big stars. They're unavailable, so the studio keeps going down the list of actors. Finally they came to me."

CBS let him show the "Slattery's People" plot to Director W. Lee Thompson, who was impressed. But the acid test was Shirley MacLaine's reaction. She was flitting about Africa or someplace, and Dick's deadline for starting the series was approaching.

Shirley finally returned, saw the film and flipped. CBS and Crosby kindly consented to set back the starting date of the series, so Dick found himself back at his onetime alma mater playing a Jewish U2 pilot who crash-lands in an Arab Kingdom.

Honor Roll At LE Lists 77 Students

Seventy - seven Logan Elm High School students earned positions on the school's honor roll for the fifth six-week grading period which ended recently.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, April 28, the 119th day of 1964. There are 247 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1758, James Monroe, fifth president, was born. Monroe's two administrations were hailed as "An Era of Good Feeling," marked by the acquisition of the Floridas from Spain, the Missouri Compromise of 1820 and the promulgation of the Monroe Doctrine.

On this date

In 1788, Maryland ratified the Constitution.

In 1876, Queen Victoria was proclaimed empress of India.

In 1939, Germany denounced its non-aggression pact with Poland.

In 1942, Japanese forces reached Lashio, the terminus of the Burma Road.

In 1945, Italian dispatches told of the execution of Benito Mussolini and his mistress, Clara Petacci.

Ten years ago . . . Millions watched the televised Army-McCarthy hearings in Washington.

Five years ago . . . British Field Marshal Montgomery aroused controversy when he charged that U.S. leadership had slipped because President Dwght D. Eisenhower, secretary of State Christian A. Herter and former Secretary John Foster Dulles weren't "very well. very fit."

One year ago . . . Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro addressed a welcoming crowd of 40,000 in Moscow's Red Square.

FBI Says Fugitive May Be in Ohio Area

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joseph Francis Bryan Jr., on the FBI's ten most wanted fugitives list, may be in the area of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, the FBI says.

Bryan, a former mental patient who has a record of alleged sex offenses with young boys, is wanted in the kidnap-slaying of a 10-year-old South Carolina boy. The boy was abducted Feb. 27 and his body was found March 31 in Florida. Bryan, 26, is white, 5 feet, 10½ inches tall, weighs 135 - 140 pounds, has a slender build, medium complexion, light brown hair and blue eyes and scars over his left eye and on the back of his right hand, the FBI said.

Federal Spending Shift Is Hinted

NEW YORK (AP)—Businessmen are being advised to plan for a gradual shift of some government spending from defense to civilian programs.

The financial publishing firm, Prentice - Hall, discusses the change and possibilities in the latest issue of its Executive Report.

"Develop your capabilities so you can take advantage of the big new growth markets that are shaping up," it counsels. "Initiate or intensify research and development of new products and technologies in the directions that growth in nondefense sectors is likely to take."

It is expected that actual and prospective defense spending declines will likely be offset — and outweighed — by heavier expenditures on civil public works and nondefense services.

Prentice-Hall says:

"Prepare now to tap new growth markets in nondefense lines by either expanding into them or merging with firms now active in them.

"Whether you are a defense contractor or not, your business will be affected by defense spending cuts—either directly as contracts and subcontracts get skimpier, or indirectly as the secondary effects of defense spending weaken."

The publisher sees the areas likely to gain most from prospective channeling of public funds into civilian uses as urban renewal, urban mass transit, water and sewer systems and education and medical services.

To rehabilitate American cities, an average of $10.5 billion annually in public and private funds will be required for the next 20 years. About $1.5 billion was spent for that purpose in 1963.

Financial requirements to relieve growing congestion in downtown areas by fast rail and bus service are officially calculated at $1 billion a year for 10 years. Current annual expenditures run to less than one-fifth of that.

Spending of about $4 billion yearly through 1970 is needed to eliminate the backlog of urgent needs for water and sewer systems. Only about half that amount is being spent now.

Construction of 100,000 classrooms annually is needed through 1969, compared with about 65,000 built in 1963. The market for educational aids will grow faster than school construction as industry and government manpower training programs expand.

Health services will expand rapidly. About $1 billion is needed to modernize hospitals. Medical schools, now training 8,000 enrolled students a year, will eventually have to take care of 12,000 to meet health service demands.

Oberlin College Choir Returns from Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—The Oberlin, Ohio, College choir is back in New York after returning from a successful two-month tour of the Soviet Union.

The choir arrived at Kennedy Airport Monday night. The group presented 33 concerts in 12 Russian cities and 3 concerts in Rumania. The group was praised by the Tass News agency for "its fine sense of style, faultless intonation and perfect phrasing." The choir is to present a concert at Town Hall Thursday night.

Chevy Chase Village, Md., was one of the first planned suburban communities in the United States.

Business Briefs

Appointment of William D. Peters as director of research and development, a newly - created position, was announced today by Thomas F. Cass, executive vice president of Container Corporation of America which operates a paperboard mill in Circleville.

Peters, in this new assignment, will be responsible for the coordination of all corporate research and product development projects. His duties will include the direction and administration of all R&D groups, divisional testing laboratories, and machinery development groups.

The company maintains R&D centers for folding cartons near Valley Forge, Pa., for shipping containers at Chicago, Ill., for plastic packaging at Valley Forge, Pa., and for fibre cans at St. Louis, Mo.

Container Cprporation's primary R&D efforts must be keyed to market-oriented philosophy, Cass explained. "The aim of this consolidation of RlD activities is to seek out and satisfy the needs of our customers," he said.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Let It Ride!

DEAR ABBY: Four of us mothers in the neighborhood have a car pool. We alternate driving our children to school in the morning. One mother made all the children late five times last month. The late mother always has an excuse (small baby at home, she overslept, she forgot to set her alarm clock), but no excuse is acceptable at school and it goes against the children's records. Should we drop this mother from our car pool? I hate to cause hard feelings but I would just as soon drive the kiddies myself to be sure mine get there on time. How should this be handled?

ON TIME MOTHER

DEAR ON TIME: Since the school term is almost over, don't tell her you want to drop her from the car pool. Tell her you have the time, and do not mind driving the youngsters in her place. And next year, when you organize a car pool, include Mrs. Always-Late OUT!

DEAR ABBY: About three years ago someone asked you why a man who has a lady for a wife will pick up some tramp and treat her like a lady, but then he will turn around and treat his wife like a tramp. You gave a terrific answer, but I can't remember how you worded it. Will you please give it again?

ANNAPOLIS

DEAR ANNAPOLIS: "A man picks up a "tramp" because he wants a female companion who is no better than he is. In her company he doesn't feel inferior. He rewards her by treating her like a 'lady.' He treats his wife, who IS a lady, like a 'tramp' because he feels that by degrading her, he will bring her down to his level. This makes him feel guilty. So, in order to get even with his wife for making him feel guilty, he keeps rght on punishing her."

DEAR ABBY: To make a long story short, I flipped for a guy and in order to make him like me more, I tried to make him jealous. But that was a mistake. He got sore and started to date my best friend. I pretended I didn't care and got HIS best friend interested in me. So now the four of us date all the time (my date is a creep). And it's killing me to see the man I love with his arm around my best friend. What to do?

SUFFERING

DEAR SUFFERING: Having outsmarted yourself you had better pull out of this foolish foursome and look around for new friends and a fresh outlook on life.

CONFIDENTIAL TO N.J.R.: Cheer up. The only man I ever heard of who got his work done by Friday was Robinson Crusoe.

"AMEN" ARGUMENT — Rep. Frank J. Becker, R-N.Y., looks over shoulder of Rep. Emanuel Celler, R-N.Y., Judiciary Committee chairman, at a Washington hearing on the prayer-in-schools issue. Becker, trying to drum up support for a constitutional amendment authorizing worship in schools, referred to opponents as "atheists," and said the "good people" questioning such a measure ought to know they are in "strange and obnoxious company."

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

RESIGN: President Johnson says the head of his council of economic advisers, Walter W. Heller, is planning to leave government service for financial reasons.

Speaking to a task force on foreign investments in the White House garden Monday, Johnson cited Heller's case in calling for passage of legislation increasing salaries of upper-level U.S. officials.

No date was set for Heller's departure and assistant press secretary Malcolm Kilduff said Heller had told the President he would stay until after the November election.

SMOKING: The Agriculture Department's chief researcher says there is a good chance science can decrease the health hazards of smoking but he can't predict when.

"It is going to take intensive work," said Dr. B. T. Shaw in testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee, "and I couldn't predict how soon the answer may come." A transcript of his Feb. 25 testimony was made public Monday.

SUPERJET: The Defense Department has officially designated the 2,000-mile an hour A11 jet as an interceptor and gave it a new tag that looks more like a typographical error—the YF12A.

In February when President Johnson disclosed the jet—many of whose characteristics are still secret—he described it as an advanced experimental jet aircraft.

The Pentagon said in its announcement that the "Y" refers to prototype aircraft and "F" represents the plane's basic mission symbol "to intercept and destroy other aircraft." The rest, an Air Force spokesman said, is for bookkeeping.

If you want to freshen crisp cookies that have been stored for a while, place them on an ungreased cookie sheet and heat for several minutes in a slow oven; allow to cool before serving to regain crispness.

In unmolding a large chilled custard, you may wish to set the dish in a shallow pan of hot water for a few minutes before you turn out the custard. But be sure to run a spatula around the edge of the custard to loosen it after you've given it the hot water treatment.

Ramsey, Loscutoff Say Farewell to Boston Celts

BOSTON (AP) — "Maybe it sounds funny because I'm colored and you're white," said Ramsey and Jim Loscutoff "but the Celtics are a family. I feel your losses deeply."

In the midst of celebrating an unprecedented sixth straight National Basketball Association title Monday night, Boston players found themselves saying farewells again. The Celtics wrapped up the playoff crown by beating San Francisco 105-99 Sunday night.

There had been the departure of past notables Ed MaCauley and Bill Sharman, then last year, Bob Cousy. Now co-Capt. Ramsey and Loscutoff have retired. Clyde Lovellette and Johnny McCarthy will not likely return.

Willie Naulls will be welcome but may chose dental studies, instead.

"I'm tremendously proud of this team," said owner Walter Brown. "I don't believe any of us will ever live to see another professional team win six consecutive world championships. Only one club has a chance — these same Celtics.

"I believe this is our best club. Maybe it didn't have the best personnel but it was the best team."

"I've had many thrills," said Coach Red Auerbach. "But this year we all felt we really did the job."

"I've grown very attached to Ramsey and Loscutoff in my years with the team," said playmaker K. C. Jones. "We have very different personalities but their retirements are like losing someone very close. "I love 'em both."

Ramsey, variously known as "Mr. Clutch" and "the Kentucky Colonel," drawled his way through some wisecracks until it came time to say goodbye. "Baskeball has come a long way in Boston," said Ramsey haltingly. "It's very difficult to leave. We've made a lot of friends.

"When you finally say it's time to quit you have a lot of misgivings," he added choking back the tears. "You wonder if you've really played too long or not long enough.

"If — you ever come down to Kentucky, be sure and look us up, hear?"

As Ramsey sat down, his face buried in a handkerchief, the banquet hall rang with a standing ovation.

"I've always hoped there's some semblance of a chance Ramsey might come back," said Auerbach. "Very few people in the history of sports have been as loyal to an organization as Ramsey.

"Of all the pros who ever entered the NBA, Ramsey came in more ready to play than any. He never was a rookie."

Both Pitchers Chalk No-Hit Performances

PORT BYRON, N.Y. (AP) — Both pitchers turned in no-hitters Monday in a seven-inning baseball game between Port Byron High School and Mt. Carmel High of Auburn, but Port Byron won the game, 1-0.

The winner, Dave Neal, struck out 10 men and walked one.

Loser Dennis Zanowick struck out four and walked two. One of the walks and a wild pitch, plus an error, led to the first-inning run that won the game for Port Byron.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, daughter and sister, Mrs. Karen (Kneece) Jones, who passed away one year ago, April 28, 1963.
In a graveyard softly sleeping
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we love so dearly,
But whom we could not save.
God above knows how we miss her
and He counts the tears we shed,
And softly whispers, "Your loved one's sleeping"
Your loved one is not dead.
How we miss the smiling face
Of the one we loved so dear,
Often we catch ourselves listening
Fully sure that she is near.
If all the world was ours to give,
We'd give it, yes and more,
To see the face of the one we love
And have her back once more.

Sadly missed by her sons, David and Jeffrey, her mother, Jeri Brigner and sister, Sharon Pino.

Drysdale Gives Bums Another Shutout Win

Houston Held To 6 Hits in 6-0 Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Drysdale, the last healthy member of Los Angeles' Big Four, has given the Dodgers' beleaguered pitching staff its most impressive streak since putting together three consenutive injuries.

Taking over where Phil Ortega left off Sunday, Drysdale pitched the Dodgers' second straight shutout Monday night, winning his first game in four starts by limitng Houston to six hits in a 6-0 victory built on a three-homer salvo.

Only one other game was scheduled in either league. In that, Washington whipped the Los Angeles Angels 6-2.

Drysdale's performance and home runs by Frank Howard, Ron Fairly and Willie Davis—the Dodgers had collected only eight homers in 12 previous games—topped off a heartening day for Manager Walt Alston.

Possibly the most imporant piece of news came from Los Angeles, where Sandy Koufax has been undergoing treatment for a muscle strain in his left arm. Dr. Robert Kerlan reported Koufax might be given permission to throw on the sidelines this weekend.

Besides Koufax, the Dodger staff has been depleted by injuries to Johnny Podres and relief specialist Ron Perranoski while the attack has lost the services of two-time batting champion Tommy Davis. Nevertheless, Alston said the Dodgers' poor start could not simply be traced to injuries.

"The injuries have hurt us," he said, "but the team was not playing up to par before anyone got hurt. Yes, we're crippled but that isn't all the reason for our troubles.

"What we've got to do is win as many as we can while we're crippled," he continued, "then move when we get all the injured men back. There is nothing wrong with the morale of this team right now that a couple of good wins and some base hits won't cure."

Howard and Fairly took care of the base hits. Each hit a two-run homer and also collected two singles. Willie Davis added a solo homer and afin e running catch that preserved Drysdale's shutout. With two men on and two out in the seventh, pinch hitter Al Spangler lashed a curling drive to left center that Davis speared with a final lunge after a long run.

Two-run singles by Mike Brumley and Don Zimmer gave the Senators four runs in the fourth inning off Angels starter Ken McBride. Fred Valentine drove in the other two tallies, one with his first major league homer.

TALK OF THE TOWN—The Kentucky Derby, the two-minute hoss race which excites the sports world, comes up for its 90th renewal at Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., May 2, with the usual 100,000-plus crowd, a field of less than a dozen three-year-olds and a huge betting day which reached a record total handle last year of $4,677,594 of which a record $1,818,087 was bet on the Derby alone. Co-favorites are the Canadian colt, Northern Dancer; West Coast pick, Hill Rise.

Brosnan Gets Job on Radio

But Ex-Redleg Wants To Pitch

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Brosnan, a writer who is now going to take a fling at broadcasting, hasn't abandoned hope of returning to baseball, but says he is beginning to feel like an ex-pitcher.

Brosnan was hired by the American Broadcasting Co. Monday to do two five-minute spot shows each Saturday and Sunday on a radio network broadcast.

Along with his writing, which currently includes six magazine articles and a book which must be finished by May 15, the scholarly looking right-handed relief specialist is a busy man, but not too busy to get back in baseball.

"I don't believe my pitching record last year indicated I had lost my effectiveness," Brosnan said. "Maybe the White Sox felt I was expendable but I certainly feel other clubs who admittedly need pitching might at least have contacted me."

Brosnan, 32, was given his unconditional release by the Chicago White Sox when all the other major league clubs waived on him at the ridiculous price of $1.

Brosnan tried to land a job with other clubs and even advertised for a baseball job, but found no takers.

"I've been waiting for someone to contact me but I've heard from no one," he said. "Apparently the only people who think I can still pitch are the fans, newspaper columnists and radio and television commentators."

Brosnan said he couldn't conceive of a conspiracy to keep him out of baseball.

"That would mean 20 clubs would have to agree on the matter and usually it's difficult to get five clubs to agree on something," he said.

Brosnan admitted his desire to pitch and write at the same time might be a drawback to landing a job, but he added:

"I read where Casey Stengel says he needs pitching help but I haven't heard a word from the New York Mets."

Baseball Approves Fifth-Place Payoff

NEW YORK (AP)—The have-nots of baseball have a new goal—fifth-place money.

The first-division clubs always have shared in the World Series loot. When the major leagues expanded to 10 clubs, they didn't change the ground rules.

Commissioner Ford Frick announced Monday that the players voted 478-58 to extend the share-the-wealth program down to fifth place. He said approval by the majors at their joint meeting this summer would be a mere formality.

If this plan had been in effect last year each of the Cincinnati Reds and Cleveland Indians would be approximately $308 richer.

Views on Television—Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Steve Allen, maestro of the popular syndicated television comedy show, has developed a new twist on an old idea in his "Question Man" portion of the show.

Allen with a wobbly mustache and dressed in cutaway and gates - ajar collar puts funny questions to answers allegedly submitted by his viewers. Recent sample: "A viewer wants to know the question to Y and Z." Allen: "Name two relatives of Malcolm X."

As can readily be seen, the device not only gives new life to radio's old "Answer Man" idea, put opens up a broad new area for using of old jokes.

Back on radio, a five-minute CBS network program is quietly proving that a large segment of the listening audience still likes the old Q and A format.

"Ask Miss Fickett," which might be sub-titled, "The Answer Woman," is receiving around 700 letters a week. The daily show is only two months old and this amount of mail would be welcomed by producers of some of the big, evening television shows.

The format is traditional and simple. Actress Mary Fickett answers — or invites guest experts to answer — questions sent in. Queries are sorted into broad categories, with "household questions" the most popular—naturally, for the largest part of the audience is women.

"People seem particularly interested in the origin of words and phrases," Miss Fickett noted.

She has been asked the origin of "ham" for actor, possibly from an old custom of removing make-up with ham, fat, and "mind your P's and Q's," perhaps an old-time printer's admonition to his devil about sorting type, or a warning about "pints and quarts" to a clerk in an 18th century British grog shop.

Cleveland To Test Form Of Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The first - place Cleveland Indians will find the going tougher starting today than it was in the opening two weeks of the young season.

Cleveland will play Minnesota, regarded in pre-season polls as one of the top contenders, in the opening of a three-game afternoon series. Dick Donovan (1-0) will face the Twins' Jim Roland (0-1).

The Indians, leading second-place Detroit by a half game in the tight race, will meet a team that beat them 7-6 in the season opener in Cleveland and manhandled the Tribe in 1963.

The Tribe and the Twins played each other 18 times last season and Cleveland won only five of those games. Minnesota was expecially hard to beat at home, winning eight of nine decisions.

Donovan, a veteran right-hander, lost all three times he faced the Twins last season. Two of those losses were suffered here.

Minnesota, now in a virtual deadlock for third place, is long on power with sluggers like Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison, Jimmie Hall and Rich Rollins. They led the league last year with 225 homers and 722 runs batted in. Rollins, third baseman from Parma, Ohio, so far this season has slammed three home runs.

Phils Ready To Invade Redleg Home

CINCINNATI (AP) — League-leading Philadelphia invades Cincinnati's Crosley Field tonight and Reds Manager Fred Hutchinson has warned that the "newborn" Phils shouldn't be taken lightly.

"There's a lot of enthusiasm among the Phillies," Hutchinson said. "They've done a tremendous job in putting that club together."

They've got a fine outfit and they got off to a fine start." he added.

Jim O'Toole is slated to face the Phils' Art Mahaffey in the Philadelphia. O'Toole has racked up two wins and has not yet tasted defeat in the young season.

Mahaffey, a product of a Cincinnati high school, has not notched a decision so far. But the Phils say the 25-year-old right-hander has recovered completely from a sore arm. His 7-10 record last year came on the heels of 19 wins in 1962.

Bears Swap Medic Pupil To Redskins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Not many college football players would pass up a chance to play with a championship professional team.

But Dick Drummond did, and Monday the National Football League champion Chicago Bears swapped Drummond to the Washington Redskins for a draft choice.

The reason the 6-foot-1, 205-pound halfback spurned the champs: He didn't want to leave medical school at George Washington University in Washington.

A Washington native, Drummond has had his eye on medical school ever since he was a local high school star.

He strayed to the University of Iowa as a freshman, but soon came back home to enroll at George Washington.

"When I went to Chicago, it became quite clear that I would not be able to attend GW medical school and play for the Bears," Drummond said, and added:

"The Bears wanted me to transfer to a medical school in the Chicago area, but I felt that when I was accepted last year as one of the 100 new students in the GW medical school I was committed to continue there. Also, the school went out of its way to make it possible for me to play football last fall."

Team Gets 2 Runs, Then It Yields 20

GREENWAY, Minn. (AP) — Deer River High School grabbed a quick 2-0 lead in the first inningMonday, then couldn't get anybody out in the last half.

Greenway-Coleraine Consolidated High sent 25 men to bat and scored 20 runs on 13 hits, seven walks and two errors. The half inning took one hour, 15 minutes to play and the game eventually was called by darkness. Greenway won 26-3.

Detroit Tiger Manager Charlie Dressen won National League pennants with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1952 and 1953.

Cleveland Chief Refuses To Reveal 'Subversives'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Declaring that Cleveland police are continuing their investigation of subversives in the civil rights movement, City Safety Director John N. McCormick has refused demands that names of 38 alleged subversives be made public.

A councilman and a civil rights leader urged at a Council committee hearing Monday that the names be made public.

Clarences Homes, president of the Cleveland branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said civil rights leaders should be given the names so they can act to rid their groups of the taint of Communism.

He said there were "no known communists among the policy-making leaders of the NAACP or the United Freedom Movement (UFM.)"

Councilman Henry Sinkiewicz also asked for the names. McCormick said the names should not be made public "until the FBI and other federal law enforcement agencies have reviewed our reports."

The hearing before the legislation committee was on two resolutions asking a federal probe into alleged communist activity in the disorders that have heightened racial tension here this year. Councilman Arthur N. Kruczyk wanted the House Committee on Un-American Activities to come here for an investigation.

The resolutions were stalled in committee on motions to hold up the legislation "at this time."

Meanwhile, the Board of Education awarded construction contracts on a controversial elementary school on Woodside Avenue in the Glenville area on Cleveland's east side.

The UFM opposed construction of the school, and a $1-million tax-payers suit has been filed against the Board of Education in an effort to block construction.

After their regular meeting, five of the seven board members held a hearing on the civil rights dispute. Two groups supporting the school board's stand on neighborhood schools were represented, the Northeastern Ohio Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of White People (NAAWP) and the Southwest Voters Association. Speaking for the Negro community were representatives of the Northeast Area Civic Club.

Civil rights groups want the board to continue and expand the policy of bussing pupils from overcrowded Negro area schools to available classrooms in predominantly white neighborhoods. Construction of three new schools in the Glenville area is intended to end the need for transporting pupils.

Hoffa Shies

Teamsters strong man and the 15-member executive board on a financial spot.

Williams reportedly told executive board members they could be made personally responsible if they continue authorizing use of union funds for Hoffa's legal defense.

Further, Williams reportedly advised that Hoffa could be liable for personal income taxes on union money used to pay his trial costs estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Hoffa was said to be angry, emotional and upset about Williams' opinion, which informed sources say came as a bolt out of the blue and reversed an earlier opinion.

It appeared to be the second sharp blow in succession to the stocky union leader who until recently had weathered a sea of troubles in courts, in congressional hearings and in the labor movement.

Last month Hoffa was set back by a federal jury tampering conviction in Chattanooga, Tenn., in which he was sentenced to eight years in prison.

His legal expenses for appealing that conviction pile atop those for defending himself in the current Chicago trial. The outcome of this trial, as viewed by reliable labor sources, is even more threatening to Hoffa's control of his 1.7 million union members than the dispute over paying his legal expenses.

Qualified sources, however, see the battle over lawyer's bills as adding to the mounting pressure within the union that may finally explode and hurl Hoffa from his Teamsters' throne.

Five Points Social Hour Club Convenes

Mr. and Mrs. Elbee Jones were hosts when the Five Points Methodist Social Hour Club met Thursday evening in the Church basement. Eleven members answered roll call with "What Spring Means to Me."

A covered dish dinner preceded the meeting which opened with group singing, "Come Thou Fount" Miss Laura Long read Scripture from Luke: 14, 1-15. The group sang, "Give of Your Best to the Master". Mrs. Francis Furniss, secretary, and Mrs. Ned Long, treasurer, reported.

Mrs. Elbee Jones opened the program with a reading, "The Wagon Wheel." Francis Furnis read "Be Proud of the Things You Are" and Elbee Jones read, "If" by Rudyard Kipling. David Long gave a reading, "What Are You Doing Now?" and Loretta Sue Long read, "The Little Things." Miss Laura Long read, "Three Words" and the meeting closed with the group singing "An Evening Prayer."

The next regular meeting will be held May, 29 with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sheets serving as hostesses.

Presbyterian Order Filed To Integrate

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP) — Southern Presbyterians have begun implementing a stronger civil rights policy by ordering all-white presbyteries in seven Southern states to absorb three all-Negro presbyteries.

A proposal to withdraw from the National Council of Churches, which plans to train youths for civil rights work in the Mississippi Delta this summer, was defeated by the denomination's 104th General Assembly.

Conservative ministers protested Monday's order by the assembly to integrate Negro and white presbyteries, or judicial districts.

The order affects presbyteries in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida and Louisiana. The area has 43 Negro churches with a membership of 2,560.

The church has 937,000 members in 13 states in the Southeast and Southwest.

"This is the type of coercion that will put our churches in the area in a tailspin," said the Rev. John Miller of Jackson, Miss.

"It's been constitutional to have segregated presbyteries all these years," he said. "Why the push now?"

Jackson Lists Honor Pupils

Thirty - two students were honored recently at Jackson Twp. High School during the assembly held every six weeks for students who earn positions on the school's honor roll.

All the students earned a 3.0 or better grade average for the grading period. They are:

Linda Bidwell, Dolores Karshner, Sally Minor, all grade five; Linda Blankenship, Donna Smallwood, Brenda Reid, Diane Swartz, all grade six; John Eitel, Steve Holbrook, Larry Selby, all grade seven; Ronald Ward, Mike Grant, Keith Karshner, Ronald Malone, Bruce Reid, Patricia Schleich Suzanne Steinhauser, all grade eight;

Carol Bowman, Kenneth Casto, grade nine; Ray Mowery, David Renick, Sharon Slagle, Joy Welsh, all grade ten; Sandy Bayer, Linda Minor, Sue Perkins, Linda Spires, Diane Thomas, all grade 11; Morris Bayes, Melanie Dudleson, Paul Fowler, Sally Hines, all grade 12.

Class honor students, receiving special recognition were: Carol Bowman, grade nine; Sharon Slagle, grade ten; Linda Minor, grade 11; Melanie Dudleson, grade 12. Miss Dudleson was also honor student of the entire student body for the grading period.

U.S. Chamber's

Although former President Dwight D. Eisenhower never missed addressing the chamber's annual meeting in his eight years in office, the friendly receptions he received never approached the storm of applause that Johnson won Monday.

The chamber's applause for Johnson was the more remarkable because Edwin P. Neilan, retiring chamber president, has been stumping the country for months denouncing the administration's domestic policy.

Neilan, a Delaware banker, has accused Johnson of wearing "the false face of frugality." He has used such terms as "immorality," "seduction by subsidy," "picking the taxpayer's pocket," and "bribery" to describe the administration's budget and domestic programs.

Johnson warmed his business listeners with a forecast that profits after taxes will reach $30 billion this year, up nearly $3 billion over 1963.

But some were not so enthusiastic about his statement that he is going to call on industry later to reduce some prices for the benefit of consumers.

They may have been a little puzzled as to just what he meant, but they clapped loudly when he added: "And then, in the same week, I am going to call in the leaders of the working men and tell them the same thing."

The general feeling among politicians is that Johnson will be presented with a number of opportunities to try out his persuasive powers on labor before the election. His roughest test may come in the United Auto Workers' bargaining with the motor manufacturers late this summer.

Brewers Get Liberal New Labor Pact

CLEVELAND (AP) — The AFL-CIO Brewery Workers Union and two Cleveland breweries have reached a precedent-setting agreement providing for as much as two months of paid vacations.

Wage increases also were a feature of the settlement announced Monday governing 500 production workers at the Carling Brewing Co. and 75 at the Schmidt Brewing Co.

The Carling agreement is expected to set a pattern in negotiations for 1,500 brewery workers in seven other cities.

According to Anthony Sapienza, union business agent, the improved vacation program makes workers eligible for six weeks' vacation after 20 years and four after 10 years.

The additional two weeks' vacation may be gained by exchanging 10 of the 11 paid holidays, Sapienza said. The agreement set the vacation period from Oct. 1 to March 30, considered the slow season in the brewery business.

The pact also calls for Schmidt employes to get wage increases totaling 42½ cents an hour over the next four years. The main contract is for three years but provides for a 15-cent hourly hike in the fourth year to correct inequities.

Wages of Carling employes will be increased 20 cents an hour in a three-year period.

Ashville Teacher Gets Fellowship

Miss Nelle M. Oesterle, Ashville, has received a William Robertson Coe Fellowship for summer study at Hartwick College at Oneonta, N. Y.

Miss Oesterle will attend the American Studies Program, which provides high school teachers of English and social studies an opportunity to renew their acquaintance with the principles of their subject matter.

The program will be held on the Hartwick College Campus July 6 through Aug. 7.

Portsmouth Family Heads For Visit with Russians

AMSTERDAM (AP)—The McKenzie family of Portsmouth, Ohio, had a brief but busy stopover in the Dutch capital today en route to visit the Moscow family who were their house-guests last Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. McKenzie and their son Philip, 14, spent their four-hour stopover on a tour of the city, noted for its many canals and bridges.

The Ohioans are making their first trip abroad. They said they were "excited and looking forward" to the 10 days they will spend in the Moscow home of Mr. and Mrs. Viktor Pozdneev.

Pozdneev, 36, an automotive engineer; his wife Nina, a high school English teacher, and their children, Anatoly, 16, and Olga, 6, spent eight days with the McKenzies at Christmas. The goodwill visit was sponsored and financed by the Portsmouth Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Russian family's American Christmas was a big event in Portsmouth, and Pozdneev told Moscow newsmen "the whole city was astonishingly kind and friendly." He said the McKenzies treated them "just like members of the family."

McKenzie, a 34-year - old insurance broker, said he and his family will view the Russian May Day celebration and hope to visit the Kremlin, Lenin's Tomb and a ballet performance. He said they are particularly excited about seeing how the Russians live and learning about their culture.

The McKenzies, who left four younger children with relatives, said they got the invitation from the Pozdneevs last Tuesday and thought about it overnight before accepting.

Before the Pozdneevs left Portsmouth, McKenzie said, "They said that they wanted us to visit them and to see Russia but at the time we thought it was just small talk and that it would be impossible."

They have several gifts for the Pozdneevs, including cosmetics, dolls, jewelry and clothing. The Russian family brought the McKenzies a table cloth, jewel box, chocolates and a clock shaped like a Sputnik space satellite.
